Tenth District PTA Child Welfare Work Almost Professional

Even though Tenth District PTA child welfare workers are volunteers, they do a thorough, and important, and an almost professional job.

To this end council and district child welfare chairmen together with many unit chairmen and other welfare-minded parent-teacher people each year take the district's volunteer leadership course in child welfare.

Thus, on Tuesdays Oct. 5, 12, 19 and 26 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon in the P.T.A. conference room at 1170 S. Hill st. this "must" for council and district welfare chairmen will be held.

This year's course, under direction of Mrs. A. J. Blakey, new manager of Tenth District's Child Welfare Bureau, will be designated as "Community Welfare Planning and Welfare Information Exchange."

Many of today's housewives learned how to budget, sew and cook when they were Camp Fire Girls. More than 2,000,000 girls have been members since the organization was founded in 1910. "Be Friendly — Make Friends — Join the Camp Fire Girls!"

ART EXHIBIT AT COUNTY MUSEUM TO BE CONTINUED

Art lovers in this area have until Sept. 6 next to view and enjoy the big triple exhibition filling seven galleries at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, according to an announcement by James H. Breasted Jr., museum director.

The show, which opened on Aug. 6 last, presents 237 works, 127 of them paintings by the famous modern German artist Max Beckmann; 63 by Morris Graves, outstanding contemporary Pacific Northwest painter, and the well-known collection of the Miller Company of Meriden, Conn. "Painting Towards Architecture" which depicts a new and closer relationship between modern art and architecture.

The exhibition has been well received by the thousands who have viewed it. After closing here the Beckmann collection will go to San Francisco and the Miller works to Portland, Ore. The Graves exhibit will be dissolved and the paintings in it sent back to their respective owners.
